ABOUT THE ECPR

The European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR) is an independent, scholarly association, established in 1970. It supports and encourages the training, research and cross-national co-operation of political scientists throughout Europe and beyond. The ECPR currently has approximately 325 European institutional members and associate members in over 40 countries, from as far afield as New Zealand and Japan. These members together form a network of thousands of individual political scientists, international relations and European studies specialists.

Activities include:
• Organising workshops, roundtables, conferences and summer schools
• Publishing journals, books, articles and newsletters
• Providing a comprehensive information source for political scientists through its web site, electronic bulletins and online searchable databases

WELCOME FROM THE ACADEMIC CONVENORS

On behalf of the ECPR and the University of Essex, we are delighted to welcome you to the first ever ECPR Graduate Conference. Hopefully, it will be the first of many.

Over two years ago, the ECPR recognised the need to hold a cross-national conference purely for postgraduate and post-doctoral researchers. Many excellent postgraduate conferences are already regularly held throughout Europe but these tend to be held at the national level or on a relatively small scale. So, this conference is a welcome addition to these, and an important event, because it offers the opportunity for postgraduate students and young researchers from all over Europe (and even beyond!) to come together, meet, socialise, share their work and experiences, bring their own perspectives, and discuss and enhance the study of political science.

We hope you will enjoy the conference. We have received some high quality proposals and there are approximately 90 panels, covering a broad range of themes, for you to participate in. We are also honoured to welcome such renowned and distinguished speakers as Professors Sidney Tarrow and Ian Budge, whose lectures promise to be engaging and insightful. We also hope you will enjoy some of the varied and informative roundtables on offer and, of course, the social events.

Organising a conference of this nature, especially for the first time, has sometimes been challenging. However, many organisations and individuals have worked very hard and have contributed many valuable hours to make this event a success, particularly: the invited speakers; the Administrative Director of the ECPR, Clare Dekker and the ECPR Conference Coordinator, Louise Hawridge, and all their colleagues from ECPR Central Services; the members of the Executive and Graduate Committees of the ECPR; the University of Essex Conference Office; the student helpers from Essex and Ben Marks, Deborah Savage, Max Paiano, Cath Luther and Joe Luther. We sincerely thank them all!

We wish everyone an academically challenging and useful conference, and a pleasant and enjoyable stay at Essex. A very warm welcome to you all!

THE ECPR GRADUATE NETWORK

The recently established ECPR Graduate Network is an international association that sits under the umbrella of the ECPR and aims to facilitate postgraduate academic and research activity and networking. It provides a framework for interaction and joint initiatives, and a forum for the exchange of ideas and experiences between junior researchers in the field of politics and the social sciences. It provides a range of services and activities which are outlined below.

Membership of the Graduate Network is on an individual basis and any graduate student, PhD candidate or post-doctoral researcher enrolled at an ECPR member institution is eligible to join the Network – so far, over 380 members have registered. Members of the Network benefit from the use of an online, searchable database, which allows them to contact and be contacted by colleagues with related interests. Members also receive a regular electronic newsletter which provides information about Graduate Network activities, conferences, summer schools, calls for papers, and so on. The Graduate Network has its own dedicated web pages containing detailed information about Network activities and events, available at: www.essex.ac.uk/ecpr/graduates/index.asp.

Other activities include a regular newsletter, graduate development panels and social events at ECPR conferences, promotion of the PhD prize and the ECPR Monographs series, which publishes outstanding PhD theses, and of course the Graduate Conference. We welcome your input and suggestions for ways in which we can expand and develop the Graduate Network.

The Co-ordinating Committee

In June 2004, a co-ordinating committee was established to oversee and direct the activities of the Graduate Network. Currently, the committee consists of one post-doctoral researcher and six PhD candidates, who are individually or jointly responsible for a particular portfolio of activity. Since its inception, the Graduate Network Co-ordinating committee has, most notably, worked to develop the activities of the Network, established a constitution for the Network, officially launched the Graduate Network at the ECPR General Conference in Budapest in September 2005, and played a major role in the organisation of this conference here in Essex (where elections for the next Graduate Committee will take place). Details of the portfolios held by different committee members, as well as information about the current committee, is available on the Graduate Network website: www.essex.ac.uk/ecpr/graduates/committee.htm. The current committee members are Katja Fettelschoss, Jerry Johnson, Erol Kulahci, Rainbow Murray, Jennifer Sands, Irina Stefuric and Niklas Wilhelmsson. Jerry, Erol and Niklas are now standing down from the committee (and we thank them for all their hard work), which means that three new committee members will be elected at this conference.

Graduate Network Committee Elections

Three places have become available on the Graduate Network Co-ordinating Committee, and this conference is your chance to vote for who the new members will be! Elections will be held on Friday 8 September from 9am to 4pm. If you are registered at an ECPR member institution you are entitled to vote. All you have to do is go to the ECPR stand in the Book Exhibition Hall and present some ID. If you are not already registered as a member of the Graduate Network then you will need to sign up, but don’t worry, you can do this at the ECPR stand (and you will then receive our free newsletter!). Simply vote for your three favourite candidates from the list of manifestos (included in your conference pack). Once all the votes are in we will count them up and announce the result at the end of the plenary lecture by Sidney Tarrow on Friday evening.
THE UNIVERSITY OF ESSEX

The University of Essex received its royal charter in 1965 and is now one of the UK’s leading academic institutions.

The feel of the University is uncompromisingly modern with the six towers providing ideal student accommodation, whilst at the same time creating a skyline and identity for the University. Their sheer power, like that of the Library, expresses the confidence of the University’s founders in the pursuit of international standards of learning and in the opening of higher education to a wider public.

The University has its main campus just two miles from the centre of Colchester. It is set in over 200 acres of beautiful parkland, much of it landscaped in the eighteenth century. As the University was conceived as a university town rather than a single building, it incorporates teaching buildings, student accommodation, shops, banks, a gallery and a theatre, bars and cafés, and sports facilities all on the one site. This mixture of activity creates a friendly and cosmopolitan campus.

COLCHESTER AND ESSEX

The University’s main campus is situated in landscaped parkland on the outskirts of Colchester, the oldest recorded town in Britain. The village of Wivenhoe is less than a mile away from the campus and, with its lively quayside and variety of pubs and restaurants, is a popular choice for students living off campus in their second and final years.

There are several pubs and restaurants in Wivenhoe, full details of which follow.

The surrounding countryside on the Essex-Suffolk borders and the nearby East Anglian coastline is among the most beautiful and atmospheric in England. The region’s landscape has been an inspiration to many famous artists – from Thomas Gainsborough and John Constable in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, to Francis Bacon in the twentieth century.

‘I love every single stile and stump and lane – these scenes made me a painter’ John Constable, English landscape painter, 1776-1837

COLCHESTER TOWN

Colchester is an exciting modern town which has, in recent years, become a thriving cultural and entertainment centre for the region. Among the many attractions is the Colchester Arts Centre which is the venue for a live comedy club, touring live bands, modern jazz and a theatre. There is also a large theatre - The Mercury, a multiscreen cinema, museums, galleries and a leisure complex with swimming pools, sauna, spa and water flumes.

The town is also popular for its shopping facilities with a mixture of both large department stores and small individual specialist shops. The great variety of restaurants, coffee houses, wine bars, pubs and nightclubs ensure that the town offers something for everyone.
LOCAL INFORMATION

EATING ON CAMPUS

Food on campus is free of charge for all participants of the ECPR Graduate Conference; meal vouchers and further details of where they can be used will be in the delegate packs.

The University has a wide range of catering facilities on campus providing meals and snacks:

- Take 3: Serving baguettes, salads, coffee, pastries and home-baked cakes to take away.
- Food on 3: Restaurant serving cuisine from the four corners of the world. A full English breakfast is also available on weekday mornings.
- Café Vert: Serving a variety of fresh ground coffee, continental breakfasts, sandwiches, baguettes, jacket potatoes, pastries, fresh juices and a homemade soup of the day.
- The Blues Bar: Featuring a deli counter with fresh produce to choose from everyday or a made-to-order sandwich bar with a choice of breads and rolls.
- The Salad Bar: Opens at lunchtime and offers fresh salads.
- SX Express: Provides a full range of fast food, offering burgers, pizza, fried chicken, kebabs, fries and a full range of veggie options. Halal food is also available.
- Sizzlers Restaurant: Offers a wide range of dishes from lasagne and pasta to potato wedges, with regular specials from lunch till late.
- Students’ Union Food Bar: Open all day and in the evening offering a snack menu of burgers, chips, pizzas, pies, jacket potatoes and sandwiches.

BARS IN COLCHESTER

Ha Ha Bar & Canteen
111, High St, Colchester, Essex CO1 1TB. Tel: 01206 367320
Café bar serving coffee and a very good, full menu all day. Laidback, relaxed atmosphere with DJs at the weekends.

Smith’s
2, Church St, Colchester, Essex CO1 1NF. Tel: 01206 564000
Serves coffee and food during the day. Despite the dated décor this is a very popular bar and is always busy, with people often spilling onto the street in warmer weather.

Greenlands Bar
33, Osborne St, Colchester, Essex CO2 7DA. Tel: 01206 766664
Specialises in unusual and flavoured vodkas.

O’Neills
66, North Hill, Colchester, Essex CO1 1PX. Tel: 01206 578555
Part of the chain of themed Irish bars, serving food all day.

The Hub
19, Head St, Colchester, Essex CO1 1NX. Tel: 01206 564977
Café bar serving food at lunchtime with DJs in the evening.

The Playhouse
4, St. Johns St, Colchester, Essex CO2 7AA. Tel: 01206 571003
Very large bar built inside a converted theatre. It’s worth a visit just to see the quirky décor and the drinks are very cheap. Part of the Weatherspoon’s chain, this bar does not play music at all.

The Hole in the Wall
Balkerne Hill, Colchester, Essex CO3 3AA. Tel: 01206 576392
Built into a section of the Roman wall (hence the name).

Bar 33
33, Crouch St, Colchester, Essex CO3 3EN. Tel: 01206 572780
Fashionable café bar, serving food at lunchtimes, and with DJs in the evenings. Popular pre-club bar, but beware of the dress code at the weekends: no trainers.

Edwards
29-39, Head St, Colchester, Essex CO1 1NH. Tel: 01206 561865
Very large, fashionable bar. Serves coffee and food during the day and has DJs in the evenings. Popular pre-club bar, so you may have to queue and pay to get in after around 8pm at the weekends.

INTERNET CAFÉS

Pulse Online Cafes
Unit 1, Centurian House, St. Johns St, Colchester, Essex CO2 7AH. Tel: 01206 570577

Compuccino Internet Cafe
17-19, Priory Walk, Colchester, Essex CO1 1LG. Tel: 01206 519090

There are plenty of places to grab a cup of coffee and a sandwich to go in Colchester, including two branches of Costa Coffee, Starbucks, Loofers, The Life Café and The Good Life sandwich bar which serves excellent deli sandwiches and pasta salads, all made fresh while you wait.
RESTAURANTS IN COLCHESTER

Asian

North Hill Noodle Bar
2, North Hill, Colchester, Essex CO1 1DZ. Tel: 01206 368889
Very good noodle and rice dishes served in a contemporary canteen-style environment, good for a quick bite to eat before the theatre, cinema or a few drinks in town.

China Chef
73, Crouch St, Colchester, Essex CO3 3EZ. Tel: 01206 546953
Very stylish restaurant serving Chinese food, quite expensive.

Alishan Tandoori Restaurant
19, Osborne St, Colchester, Essex CO2 7DP. Tel: 01206 564009
Good Indian food, well worth a visit if you can ignore the slightly shabby interior.

Na-Ree Thai Restaurant
10, North Hill, Colchester, Essex CO1 1DZ. Tel: 01206 560633
Excellent Thai food.

Italian / Pizza & Pasta

Pizza Express
1, St. Runwald’s St, Colchester, Essex CO1 1HF. Tel: 01206 760680
Part of the chain of restaurants, very good for a quick pizza or pasta early evening. Very busy at weekends.

Prezzo
1, Culver St East, Colchester, Essex CO1 1LD. Tel: 01206 573388
Tasty pizza and pasta in a lovely old building just by Colchester’s Castle. Has a small outdoor seating area, perfect if the weather is good.

ASK
16 North Hill, Colchester, Essex, CO1 1D. ZTel: 01206 366 379
Very good pasta and pizza with lovely outdoor terrace.

LOCAL TRANSPORT

Buses
The 61, 78A, 74 and 78 buses run regularly through Wivenhoe to and from the University. There are two bus stops at the University, both situated along Boundary Road: one near the podia, and another outside the sports centre. The buses also travel to the local supermarket (Tesco), and the centre of Colchester.

Taxis
There are many local taxi companies situated in Wivenhoe and Colchester. During the day service is usually quick, but if you are getting a taxi later at night you may have to wait a little longer.
Local Taxi Companies:
   Wivenhoe Station Cars - 01206 822 020
   Panther Cabs - 01206 525 525
   Mascot Cars - 01206 793 355
   A1 Taxis - 01206 546 677
   Hawaii Five-O - 01206 543 210

Trains
Trains run between London (Liverpool Street) and Colchester approximately every 20 minutes during the day. Services also connect with Colchester from Norwich, Ipswich, Harwich, Felixstowe and Clacton/Walton. At peak periods there are two trains an hour from Wivenhoe to London and the journey lasts approximately 1 hour. A train journey from Wivenhoe to Colchester will cost around £3, and a ticket to London (off-peak) will cost £20 (peak time c. £40) – if you buy a ‘cheap day return’ ticket any travelling you do on the underground will be included in the ticket.
JEAN BLONDEL PHD PRIZE

In October 2003 the ECPR created its annual PhD prize for the best thesis in Politics (broadly conceived to include International Relations, Political Theory and Public Administration) awarded at a full ECPR member institution. The prize links in with two other new ECPR activities: the biennial Graduate Conference, during which the Prize will be awarded every other year, and the ECPR Monographs series, under which the winning thesis can be published.

Part of the remit of the Monographs series is the publication of research monographs by new entrants to the profession that are based on outstanding doctoral dissertations. The prize is judged by a committee drawn from the editorial board of the Monographs series and chaired by the series co-editor, Vincent Hoffmann-Martinot (Sciences Po Bordeaux).

At the Joint Sessions in Nicosia in 2006, it was agreed to name the PhD Prize after ECPR founding father, Jean Blondel. Professor Alan Ware will be presenting the award on behalf of Professor Blondel to this year’s recipient, Daniel Naurin, at the Graduate Conference.

Daniel Naurin defended his dissertation, ‘Dressed For Politics. Why Increasing Transparency In The European Union Will Not Make Lobbyists Behave Any Better Than They Already Do’ at Göteborg University on December 10th 2004. Dr Naurin studied political science, economics, history and statistics as an undergraduate at Göteborg University, and as an exchange student at the University of Leiden. During his postgraduate studies he spent five months as a research fellow at Sussex European Institute, Sussex University. After receiving the doctorate Dr Naurin worked as a research fellow at the Swedish Institute for International Affairs in Stockholm for a period of six months, and in August 2005 was appointed a Marie Curie Fellow at the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies at the European University Institute in Florence. Dr Naurin says that winning the ECPR PhD Prize ‘is a true honor’. As ‘it gives your research a quality mark that no one can question. To the extent that academic posts in Europe and elsewhere are appointed on the basis of merits this is clearly an important asset to include in applications.’ A revised version of Dr Naurin’s thesis will be published by the ECPR Press, in the Monographs series, in 2007.

Previous recipients of the Jean Blondel PhD Prize have been:

2004: Kevin Casas Zamora (University of Oxford), for his thesis ‘Paying for Democracy in Latin America: Political Finance and State Funding for Parties in Costa Rica and Uruguay’. The prize was presented to Dr Casas Zamora at the ECPR Joint Sessions of Workshops in Granada, during the reception to launch the ECPR Press and the Classics and Monographs Series. Dr Casas Zamora’s thesis has since been developed into a book, and was published by the ECPR Press in 2005.

2005: Laura Morales Diez De Ulzurrun (Universidad de Murcia) for her thesis ‘Institutions, Mobilisation, and Political Participation: Political Membership in Western Countries’. The Prize was presented at the 3rd ECPR General Conference in Budapest. A revised version of Dr Morales’ thesis will be published by the ECPR Press in 2007.

PLENARY LECTURES

Professor Ian Budge (University of Essex) will give the opening lecture on Thursday, 7 September. His lecture is entitled ‘Party Democracy: Research & Practice’.

Professor Budge is author or co-author of some twenty volumes and sixty monographs on democratic theory and practice (most recently The New Challenge of Direct Democracy, and co-author of Mapping Policy Preferences and The New British Politics). Past Head of Department, Executive Director of the ECPR, Graduate Director, and Founder of Essex Summer Schools on quantitative social research. Current research: the mandate theory of party democracy checked against party election programmes and government expenditures.

Professor Sidney Tarrow (Cornell University), will give the keynote lecture on Friday, 8 September. He will speak on ‘Crossing Boundaries: Political Contention in Composite Regimes’.

Professor Tarrow’s areas of interest include comparative politics, social movements, political parties, collective action, and political sociology. His 1990 monograph, Democracy and Disorder (Oxford), received the Best Book in Collective Action and Social Movements award from the American Sociological Association. His major book is Power in Movement (Cambridge 1998). In the past five years, Professor Tarrow has co-authored or edited four other books and monographs, including The Social Movement Society (Rowman and Littlefield, 1998; edited with D. Meyer), Contentious Europeans (Rowman and Littlefield, 1998; with D. Imlig), Dynamics of Contention (Cambridge, 2001; with D. McAdam and C. Tilly), and Silence and Voice in the Study of Contentious Politics (Cambridge, 2001; with R. Amizade et al), and numerous articles in sociological and political science journals.

The Jean Blondel PhD Prize

In October 2003 the ECPR created its annual PhD prize for the best thesis in Politics (broadly conceived to include International Relations, Political Theory and Public Administration) awarded at a full ECPR member institution. The Prize has since been named after ECPR founding father, Jean Blondel.

The Jean Blondel PhD Prize links in with two other ECPR activities:

• a biennial Graduate Conference, which will be held for the first time at the University of Essex in September 2006 and;

• the ECPR Monographs series, which includes in its remit research monographs by new entrants to the profession based on outstanding doctoral dissertations.

The Prize is judged by a committee drawn from the editorial board of the ECPR Monographs series, and will be chaired in 2007 by the series co-editor, Professor Vincent Hoffmann-Martiniot, Sciences Po Bordeaux.

All ECPR Official Representatives are encouraged to put forward an outstanding student from their institution for the 2007 prize, the closing date for which is the 31st January 2007. A full set of guidelines can be found on the web site www.ecprnet.org.

Previous winners of the prize are:

2004
Kevin Casas Zamora (University of Oxford), for his thesis ‘Paying for Democracy in Latin America: Political Finance and State Funding for Parties in Costa Rica and Uruguay’. The prize was presented to Dr Casas Zamora at the ECPR Joint Sessions of Workshops in Granada, during the reception to launch the ECPR Press and the ‘Classics’ and ‘Monographs’ Series. Dr Casas Zamora’s thesis has since been developed into a book, and was published by the ECPR Press in 2005.

2005
Laura Morales Diez De Ulzurrun (Universidad de Murcia) for her thesis ‘Institutions, Mobilisation, and Political Participation: Political Membership in Western Countries’. The Prize was presented at the 3rd ECPR General Conference in Budapest. A revised version of Dr Morales’ thesis will be published by the ECPR Press in early 2007.

2006
Daniel Naurin (Göteborg University) for his thesis ‘Dressed For Politics. Why Increasing Transparency In The European Union Will Not Make Lobbyists Behave Any Better Than They Already Do’. Dr Naurin will receive the prize from Jean Blondel at the ECPR Graduate Conference at the University of Essex in September, and a revised version of his thesis will be published in the ECPR Monographs series in late 2007.

The Politics of Income Taxation

Steffen Ganghof

Marginal income tax rates in advanced industrial countries have fallen dramatically since the mid-1980s, but level and progressivity of income taxation continue to differ strongly across countries. This study offers a new perspective on both observations. It blends theoretical inquiry with focused quantitative analysis and in-depth investigation of seven countries: Germany, Australia and New Zealand as well as Denmark, Finland, Norway and Sweden. The study highlights the equity-efficiency tradeoffs that structure the politics of income taxation and analyses how income taxes are embedded in broader tax systems. It explains the limited but enduring importance of political parties and democratic institutions. Finally, the study paints a nuanced picture of the role of globalisation and thus also sheds light on the pros and cons of tax coordination at the European and international levels.

Gender and the Vote in Britain

Rosie Campbell

Gender and the Vote in Britain provides comprehensive analysis of the 1992-2005 British general elections and tests whether there were, in fact, sex differences in leadership evaluations, party vote and political attitudes. The interactions between sex, age, class, race, and education are examined, and gender effects are understood as “tectonic plates” that will shift and change according to the specific context of a given election. Campbell argues that background or sociodemographic characteristics play an important role in electoral choice but that their impact is mitigated by other factors, such as issue salience. For example, gender may impact upon political attitudes, so that more women than men prioritise spending on health or education, but this will only translate into their voting behaviour if the political parties diverge on these issues.
Elite and Specialized Interviewing

Lewis A. Dexter

Lewis Anthony Dexter (1915-1995) pioneered the use of specialized interviewing as a tool in the social sciences. He argued that interviewing persons who have specialized information about, or who have involvement with, any social or political processes is different from standardized interviewing. In “elite” interviewing the investigator must be willing to let the interviewee teach him what the problem, the question, or the situation is. He demonstrated that interviewing was a useful tool, but he also argued that it was not always the most appropriate method for revealing the information required. In Elite and Specialized Interviewing decades of his practical experience, of both how to interview and how to use interviews, was distilled into a readable, yet rigorously analytical, book. First published in 1969, it remains as good a guide to the subject as the 21st century researcher can find.

Individualism

Steven Lukes

In this classic text, re-printed by the ECPR Press, Steven Lukes discusses what ‘individualism’ has meant in various national traditions and across different provinces of thought, analyzing it into its component unit-ideas and doctrines. He further argues that it now plays a malign ideological role, for it has come to evoke a socially-constructed body of ideas whose illusory unity is deployed to suggest that redistributive policies are neither feasible nor desirable and to deny that there are institutional alternatives to the market.
Pisa 2007

4TH ECPR GENERAL CONFERENCE
Pisa, Italy
6-8 September 2007

CALL FOR SECTIONS, PANELS AND PAPERS

The ECPR’s general conference will take place for the fourth time in September 2007 and as with the first three conferences, the format will be one of sections and panels, but the academic programme will also include round tables, symposia and a plenary lecture. The programme is intended to be very broad and proposals to organise a section (of between 4 and 10 panels on a given theme), a single panel or to present a paper are welcomed on (but not limited to) the following themes:

* Political theory
* Political methodology
* Comparative politics
* Voting and party competition
* Analytical politics and public choice
* International relations
* Local politics
* Gender and politics
* Third world politics
* EU politics
* Public administration
* Public policy analysis
* Political parties
* Political economy
* Environmental politics
* Media and politics
* Ethnicity, national identity and culture
* Protest and social movements
* Political institutions in Europe

The deadline for proposals is 1 March 2007.

For full details of the application procedure, contact information for the local organisers and academic convenors, a day-by-day timetable, registration information and local information, please see the ECPR website at www.ecprnet.org. Enquiries may also be made to the ECPR Central Services: ecpr@essex.ac.uk
The European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR) will organise its second Summer School in Methods and Techniques at the University of Ljubljana, Slovenia.

It is targeted at Masters level and beginning PhD students in political science and sociology, but students from all social and behavioural sciences are most welcome.

The curriculum covers introductory and intermediate courses in both quantitative and qualitative methods. In addition to the two-week courses, evening presentations, podium discussions, and debates on contentious methodological issues will be scheduled.

Up to 14 courses will be offered and are planned to include:

- Mathematical concepts and formal modelling
- Expert interview
- Cross-national survey design and analysis
- Multivariate regression analysis
- Interpretive methods
- Quantitative textual analysis
- Systematic comparative methods
- Comparative historical analysis and case study design
- Network analysis
- Ethnographic methods in policy analysis
- Online methods measurement
- Time and sequence
- Mixed methods research
- Case study design
